Message of Night.

The moon burnelon the prow of youder hill.

The hour is late, the night is still; white clover stars shine everywhere Their breath spills on the moveless air.

Perchance you know that one long, mournful cry plown from some bird throat full and high;

high;
is it a note of tender wees?
Or lonely joys?—Who knows-who knows?

But near the hurried panting of the mill, One cricket pipes; all else is still— Nay what lone mourner have we here? The last frog by the reeded merc.

listow the sea lies cool and cill, at rest, With stars set in her dimpled breast. The drowned lie dreaming in their graves Held by the curied arms of the waves.

But most serene and beautiful and high The moon moves on across the sky, And blood may run, or wars may cease— Its word is always "Peace, sweet Peace!"

And do but think how constantly and true The stars shine in the silent blue Of those mysterious deeps above— To breathe of steadfast, holy love.

Yea-while the earth lies passionless, as loop.

These words sink tremulous and deep And clear as any silver bell-"God is awake-and all is well!" -Ella Higginson, in June Delineator.

Memorial Scholarship.

The many friends of the late Bishop John Brockenbrough Newton in Richmond and throughout Virginia, and those of his family, will be much gratified to know that a former generous parishioner of his, belonging to St. Luke's in Norfolk, has endowed a scholarship in the Episcopal Seminary, near Alexandria, to his memory.

Few men in the Episcopal Church of this State were more beloved than Bishop.

The fact that appreciation of his good ness and usefulness has come in the shape of so fine a memorial will give pleasure to all hearing of it. Bishop Newton wa rector of Monumental Church in Rich-mond for a number of years. Mrs. New-ton, several of her sons, and her daugh-ter, Mrs. W. G. Stanard, still live here.

Mrs. Axtell Chairman.

Richmond people are still talking about the great success of the A. P. V. A. excursion to Jamestown on Saturday last. On yesterday they were making their acknowledgements for the excursion, who attended the general meeting of the association held in the rooms of the Virginia Miterical Society. ginia Historical Society.

To Mrs. Axtell, more than to any other one person, the accomplishing of the ex cursion without a single drawback is due. And this is what her A. P. V. A. Friends were saying to her, as each one came up for the pleasure of a handshake or a congratulation, one seeing her for the first time since Saturday. Certainly Mrs. Axtell proved the most resourceful and efficient chairman possible and has established a precedent that fow will be able to follow.

HESE many years since we began to be,
What have the gods done with us? what with me,
What with my love? They have shown me fates and fears,
Harsh springs, and fountains bitterer than the sea, Grief a fixed star, and joy a vane that veers,

With her, my love, with her have they done well? But who shall answer for her? who shall tell Sweet things or sad, such things as no man hears? May no tears fall, if no tears ever fell, From eyes more dear to me than starriest spheres These many years!

Those eyelids folded like a white-rose leaf.

Deep double shells where through the eye-flower peers,

Let them weep once more only, sweet and brief,

Brief tears and bright, for one who gave her tears

Burke Gets the Limit.

Burke Gets the Limit.

Because he had perjured himself in a recent Police Court case, J. E. Burke, an Indian of coppery hue, was given the extreme for his offense by Justice Crutchfield yesterday morning. He is good for six months in jail and the payment of a fine for $100.

Burke was a witness in the case against James Jones, a negro, who was charged with selling liquor over the harber shop at 225 North Seventeenth Street. Burke was seen by the police to issue forth from the place with the goods on him, but upon inquiry he denied positively that he had ever bought stuff from Jones. Burke took an appeal from the decision.

Got County Negro's Money. Got County Negro's Money.

Tom Williams, a negro from the county, bucked up against a tough proposition yesterday when he was taken in hand by Buxon Gertle Johnson, of the sunny domains of upper Seventeenth Street, and touched for exactly $5.25. Tom told the police that he had given the wiman a quarter, whereupon she squaled and hugged him to sufficeation, so much so that he swooned away in her arms and lost the money. Gertle swore that if Justice Crutchfield let her off she would beat the country negro to death. Its Honor will pass sentence upon her this morning.

Mr. Douglas Wherry, who lives one mile from Bon Air, suffered loss by the burning of his barn and corn crib about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. These buildings were recently constructed, and were totally destroyed. His misfortune also consisted in the loss of two horses, two mules and carriage, together with several sets of harness and prograder.
Fortunately, Mr. Wherry, in building his dwelling, located it far enough from his cutiniding not to be endangered in case of fire. All the buildings on Mr. Wherry's farm were planned by himself and built of the best material. Mr. Wherry was fully covered by insurance.

Butler University Men Deliver Ultimatum to Faculty.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
INDIANAPOLIS, May 14.—The senior class of Butler University has joined it a petition to the faculty asking for the reinstatement of four members of the class by next Tuesday, and, if this is not done, the entire class will leave the institution. Several days ago some students gathered around the college home after night, and bombarded the decrease. after night, and hombarded the doors with stones.

Professor R. B. Moore was in the house and when he appeared to protest against the action of the students, buckets of water were thrown upon him. Soveral of the students were suspended and among them four members of the senior class. The other members have taken up the matter and have delivered their ultimatum to the faculty.

Mr. Bryan made the statement after hearing the report of the various members of the committee and the amounts each one had collected since the stock-holders' meeting last week. It was found that a little over one-half of the remaining sum had alrendy been collected—in short, $7.550—and some more was promised the committee.

To-night at $15 the regular meeting of stockholders is scheduled to be held in the assembly hall of Murphy's Hotel. The committee of fifteen has been called to meet and prepare its final report shortly before the stockholders' meeting. All of these at the meeting yesterday afternoon said that they had a number of citizens to see before the meeting to-night.
